

Abstract of the Disclosure

5 An optical analysis system and method including a spatial light modulator that directs light to localized targets. The localized light activates or "uncages" a reagent that locally interacts with a sample. This system may be part of an optical analysis system that detects kinetic events and allows for variable magnification of a discrete target sample.